CALL SPECIAL GRAND JURY ON "WHO'S WHO" ARSON LIST

Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

EDITOR The Star: On yesterday I read with interest your editorial with respect to the Patman bill recently passed by the United States senate, relative to adjusted compensation for the ex-soldiers; and while I enjoy reading your editorials and concur with the views expressed in most of them, I differ with you with reference to the Patman bill; and will appreciate it very much if you will allow me brief space in your paper to express my views on this very important measure.

Byrd, Home From Antarctic, Given Greeting by F. D.

President Congratulates Admiral on Great Scientific Voyage

CAPITAL JUBILANT

President and Congress Celebrate Return at the Navy Yard

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Admiral Richard E. Byrd and more than 100 members of his expedition to the Antarctic stepped from the ice-scarred Bear of Oakland Friday and were greeted by President Roosevelt.

Members of the cabinet, the senate and the house and hundreds of others grouped at the navy yard to welcome Byrd and her chief executive praise his second trip to the south pole as a "successful expedition for the gain of human knowledge and the furtherance of the progress of civilization."

"It is no small thing," said Mr. Roosevelt, "to have filled in another large portion of the map of the world which hitherto had remained a blank. It is an equally great achievement to have added valuable information to at least 22 sciences."

As he heard the end of his speech, the president removed his grey felt hat, fixed his eyes upon Byrd and said:

"I want to say something from the heart, Dick, I salute you."

No more than a few feet from the president could hear just what was said when Byrd stepped up, the crowd cheered so loudly.

A booming of guns in the admiral's salute was followed by more guns for the governor of Virginia and finally the 21-gun salute for the president, signalling his arrival.

Byrd, in reply to the executive, said in part:

"This is the very moment of our arrival home. It marks the end of a long, and uncertain journey. We are home at last."

"If I could have rubbed Aladdin's lamp and could have had my wish as to what kind of a welcome I would select for my men and myself, my wish would have been to have our president welcome us home. My men and I are in saying to you that this angle act of yours is adequate reward for anything this expedition may have done for science."

Patrolman Is Killed

COLUMBUS, Ohio.—(AP)—Patrolman E. J. Murphy, 33, was shot and killed early Friday while searching for a burglar in a downtown office building and wounded a negro fleeing from the building.

Garner, Byrns, Robison and Harrison Accompany President

LONG AGAIN VOCAL

Says All Democratic Leaders "Really Want to Pay the Bonus"

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—President Roosevelt accompanied by congressional leaders left the White House Saturday for a fishing trip in the Blue Ridge mountains. Plans are for an overnight stay.

Accompanying him are Vice-President Garner, Speaker Byrns, and Senators Robinson and Harrison.

"Want to Pay Bonus"

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Senator Long said Saturday that virtually all Democratic leaders "want to go ahead and pay the bonus by passing the Patman bill. The outburst of Jesse A. Jones and an admission by Marriner Eccles favoring the bonus is what all the balance of the leaders are doing behind the scenes."

Parm Electrification

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—President Roosevelt established by executive order Saturday the rural Electrification Administration under the work relief program, with an initial appropriation of $75,000 for organization expense.

The president reserved his announcement of the head of this division, which is already established by Morris L. Cooke, of Philadelphia.

Meanwhile officials indicated that a trimming of labor costs is in prospect on 100 million dollars' worth of projects already approved by the PWA.

"Homesteads" Limited

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—In his first decision on the 4-billion-dollar relief fund J. R. McCall, comptroller general, ruled Saturday that the money could not be used for subsistence homesteads unless they involve farming.

U. S. Bill Opposed by State Bankers

Lloyd Spencer, of Hope, Heads National Association for Arkansas

FORT SMITH, Ark.—(AP)—Closing their 45th annual convention late Friday 280 delegates of the Arkansas Bankers association unanimously favored a resolution opposing Section 2 of the administration omnibus banking bill.

Another resolution adopted urged all counties to exercise caution in issuance of bonds. The resolution recommended that counties reduce expenses to within their incomes. Bankers were urged to give fuller consideration to small loans in another resolution.

A resolution was adopted which criticized the postal savings system as competing with banks. Marshall R. Diggs of Washington, executive assistant to the controller of the currency, stressed the part the FDIC has played in restoring confidence in banks. He said that "from the standpoint of the bankers, it is important that public confidence in the banks has been restored, and deposit insurance has justifiably been given a great deal of credit for it."

He said that no bank in Arkansas insured by the FDIC has suspended business in the past year. Almost 200 closed during 1930-31, he said.

A. N. Searcy of Fort Smith, president of the First National bank, automatically advanced to the position of president, succeeded Jo Nichol of Pine Bluff.

G. S. Neal of Russellville was elected vice president, Albert Rowell, El Dorado, treasurer, and Lloyd Spencer, Hope, vice president for Arkansas of the American Bankers association.

Injured Man Improves

DEWITT, Ark.—(AP)—Improvement was reported Friday night in the condition of J. W. Feemster, 36-year-old farmer who received a skull fracture when he was thrown from his truck Thursday night as it struck a wash-out in highway No. 1 west of here. Feemster's wife and son were injured slightly.

Bird-Sized Eggs Are Laid by Hen Owned by Local Citizen

A full-grown hen which lays quarter-sized eggs is owned by W. H. Davis, 604 Pond street.

Mr. Davis brought to The Star office Saturday a dozen eggs the size of pigeons lay, which he said his hen had produced since Easter. One of the eggs is no larger than the size laid by the small song-birds.

The hen is a mongrel Brown Leghorn—with no explanation for her curious egg production.

Mr. Davis is thinking of putting the 12 fresh eggs under a setting-hen to see what the result might be.

Severance, Pioneer in Hardware, Dies

One-Time Partner of K. G. McRae to Be Buried Here at 4 p. m. Sunday

Arthur L. Severance, 75, pioneer Hempstead county hardware man, died Friday at his residence in Durant, Okla., after a short illness—and will be brought to Hope Saturday for interment in Rose Hill cemetery.

The funeral service will be held at Hope furniture company's funeral parlor at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, with the Rev. E. Hotchins of Durant officiating.

Palbearers will be: K. G. McRae, C. C. Springs, J. P. Duffie, Dr. J. A. Henry, Ernest Wingfield and J. D. Barlow.

Mr. Severance was born in North Fairfield, Ohio, where he married Mary West in 1885, removing to Hope in 1886. During the early days of this city he was a member of the hardware firm of Severance & McRae, later selling out his interest to his partner, K. G. McRae, and entering the hardware business on his own in Durant, where he retired only a few years ago.

Mr. Severance is survived by his widow and one daughter, Miss Marion Severance, of Durant.

500 Turn Out for Sixth Good Will Trip of Hope Civic Club

Over 500 persons turned out to greet the Kiwanis Goodwillers on their trip to Saratoga, Friday night. This was the sixth good will trip of the Hope club.

W. S. Atkins explained the prize essay contest of the club and Charles Dana Gibson made a good will talk and acted as master of ceremonies, introducing the club members who attended.

A musical program was presented by Riley Huddleston and his band.

Long and Tydings Fight Over Bonus

Shur at Roosevelt Provokes Reminder Long Dodged War Service

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—An allusion by Senator Long, Democrat, Louisiana, to President Roosevelt's war record during debate over the prospective vote of the Patman new money bonus bill Friday drew from Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, an angry warning that Long might face something besides a "vocal" argument.

Long said if he were advising the president he would ask Mr. Roosevelt how much he made during the war.

"He would tell you he got $10,000 for that year's work," Long said.

"How many cannon did you face, sir?" Long asked, repeating the imaginary interview.

"None."

"How many nights did you sleep on the ground, sir?"

"None."

"How many nights did you hear the rain on the tents? How many days and nights did you hear the crack of German rifles and endure the smell of poison gas? How many times did you see the flames of the burning fires of hell and destruction and carnage searing the lives and souls of men?"

"He will say 'none.'"

"And yet you got $10,000, Mr. Roosevelt."

Crosnoe Files His Who's Who Arson List With Gentry

Commissioner, Prosecutor, Sheriff Begin Sweeping Local Probe

"TO CLEAR RECORD"

Crosnoe Files List as Last Gesture Before Beginning Term

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Charles Crosnoe, under a 6-year sentence for the burning of a Bradley county gin, which sentence was recently stayed by the governor, called on State Insurance Commissioner U. A. Gentry Saturday leaving a list of persons known to Crosnoe as arsonists in his home county of Hempstead.

Commissioner Gentry quoted Crosnoe as saying "the information covered cases where persons hired me or burned their residences themselves."

Prosecutor Ned Stewart of the Eighth judicial district announced that Crosnoe had given him a duplicate list, and the prosecutor said if he could find corroborative evidence he would call a special grand jury and present the evidence to it.

The possibility of a sweeping investigation of alleged incendiary fires in Hempstead county over a period of many months' developed on the heels of Crosnoe's alleged disclosures.

Sheriff Jim Bearden, of Hempstead, who appeared at the capitol later in the morning, said he had come to Little Rock with Crosnoe and that he was working hand-in-hand with Prosecutor Stewart, who, he said, planned to confer later Saturday with Circuit Judge Dexter Bush with the view of calling a special Hempstead county grand jury next Wednesday.

The conference was reported to have been arranged for Texarkana, State Insurance Commissioner Gentry also announced he would go to the bottom of the indicated existence of an arson ring.

Crosnoe was represented by acquaintances as taking the position that he desired to "clear the record" before starting his arson sentence.

Hamilton Ignored on His Death Bier

Mother Refuses to Let Crowds View Body of Executed Gunman

DALLAS, Texas.—(AP)—The thousands who stormed undertaking parlors a year ago to view the slain outlaw, Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, Friday ignored in death diminutive Raymond Hamilton, one-time lieutenant of the Barrow-Parker crime team.

The west Dallas hoodlum who rose from a milk bottle snatcher to the southwest's ranking menace, executed early Friday at Huntsville state prison for the slaying of a prison guard, lay in an expensive casket at a funeral home—undisturbed by the mob.

Joe Palmer, his companion in the death row, was viewed by curious townfolk at Huntsville as relatives prepared to move his body to San Antonio for burial Sunday.

It was the wish of Ray's mother, Mrs. Steve Davis, that no one be allowed to see her boy's body. She recalled the wild scenes last year when close to 25,000 persons shoved, fought and pushed their way past the biers of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker.

Memphis Bandits and Plunder Taken

One Shot, Another Captured, and $3,945 Payroll Recovered

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—Four minutes after three bandits escaped with $3,945 in a payroll robbery at the Anderson-Tully company, lumber manufacturers, police Saturday shot one of the robbers, arrested another, and recovered all the money.

A third man, until a week ago an employee of the company, was taken into custody for questioning.

The wounded man gave the name of Cutchner.

Portions of Crosnoe Report

The following excerpts, with names deleted, are taken from Charles Crosnoe's "Who's Who" arson report on Hope and Hempstead county.

As I stated in my letter published in Hope Star Tuesday, May 7, that I expected to give to you and the insurance commissioner of the State of Arkansas a complete list of the fires that I have been hired to do in the State of Arkansas, therefore I am naming the people who hired me to destroy their property.

I am giving you the details complete on two of these jobs, and also a complete list of the fires that I have been hired to burn. The list... (There can be no published list until the authorities have filed criminal information against the alleged parties. This is the law governing all newspapers.)

This is a complete list of the fires that I have been connected with, although I have been accused of many more fires than been in any way connected with them.

Some of these crimes I have barred by the statute of man-made law but are not barred by the law of God.

I am not expecting immunity in any shape or form. I have been threatened and have had money offered me but am not for sale, simply see the error of my ways and want to go straight. Then I am convinced that in order to go straight I should wipe the slate clean, so I shall have nothing to hide or conceal.

I am not contending that the other fellows' crimes justify me but I do say that if they did not hire property burned there would be very little burned.

And I think the general public of the State of Arkansas should know all parties who are concerned in these crimes and then after receiving full information pass on the judgment as to who is the most guilty—the party who applies the torch or the citizen who occupies a prominent place in the community, church and society, and steals money from the insurance companies by hiring their undesirable property burned.

Mr. Blank arrived about the time the fire department arrived, and seemed to be greatly "surprised" to find his building in flames, and was very nervous. I made it a point to shake hands with him and sympathize with him in regard to his "loss."

The next morning after the fire he came to me and sat down beside me and put something in my left coat pocket. This which I was sure at the time was $300 for the job as per contract.

But after he left me I took the money out and counted it and found it to be $65, otherwise $235 short. It was two days before I saw him again. I asked him about the promised money. He told me I would have to wait until the insurance company paid off.

Well, I have been waiting all this time, and have never received another penny of my promised money, although I know it to be a fact that he received money from the insurance company. Although I have tried to collect this money several times he sings the blues to me and tells me he is broke.

After hearing his hard luck stories time and time again, and knowing he is a very poor man I take pleasure in now telling him through the newspapers of the State of Arkansas that his bill due me is marked "paid in full." And furthermore, if he ever should have any other arson jobs he will have to find him another man to serve him.

Two days after the fire he left me the handbag which also was in the contract. Otherwise he left me holding the bag.

Women Urged to Support New Deal

Josephine Roche Appeals to Women Democrats of Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK.—Democratic women of Arkansas were called upon Friday night by Miss Josephine Roche, assistant secretary of the United States Treasury, to support President Roosevelt in his program "not only to put the anxious, waiting millions to work, but to set up safeguards against the recurrence of such shocking and needless human wastes as those we faced at the end of the twenties."

Miss Roche was the principal speaker at a banquet which climaxed the day's meeting of the Arkansas Democratic Women's club and the Third District regional conference of the National Women's Division of the Democratic party. The state convention closed Saturday night, but the regional meet will be continued Saturday.

Man Held After Sudden Death of 5

Poison Found in Bodies of 2 Members of Clerk's Family

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Frederick Gross, 49, bookkeeper for a chemical company, was arrested late Friday on a charge of homicide after traces of an obscure poison were discovered in the vital organs of two of five members of his family and who have died in six weeks of mysterious illnesses.

The crippled, mind-mannered 32-year-old clerk, picked up by police after a taxicologist discovered the poison, denied responsibility for the death of his wife, Katherine, 38, an expectant mother, and four of their five children.

Frank, five, the fifth child, and Mrs. Olga Bein, Gross' mother-in-law, are in a hospital with the same symptoms that caused the other deaths.

Authorities said the wife, who died April 6, and two of the children, Frederick, Jr., 9, and Leo, 3, apparently died of the same poison.

Bulletins

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—The State Game & Fish Commission was called into session at the capitol Saturday morning to confirm the tentative selection of H. G. McCall, secretary to Governor Pattrell, as secretary of the commission.

BUCHAREST, Rumania.—(AP)—Representatives of four Balkan states decided Saturday, an authoritative source revealed, to allow the rearmament of Bulgaria and Hungary provided these states agree to join in non-aggression and mutual assistance pacts with Yugoslavia, Rumania, Turkey, Czechoslovakia and Greece.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—(AP)—Sheriff Mayes announced Saturday he had arrested a man hooked as T. E. Kelly, 31, who admitted he was the former companion of Raymond Hamilton, executed South-west outlaw. Kelly escaped from the Texas penitentiary with Hamilton and Clyde Barrow last year.

HONOLULU, H. I.—(AP)—Hints of even more amazing aerial operations came from high naval sources Saturday while the Navy's great armada of 46 seaplanes continued unprecedented secret maneuvers somewhere in the Pacific west of Hawaii. Reports were that 450 aircraft now aboard surface vessels, maneuvering under simulated war-time conditions in the Pacific, would take part.

Hempstead Probe Will Be Launched 9 a. m. Wednesday

Prosecutor Stewart Takes Action Following Filing of Crosnoe's List

Crosnoe Delivers List—Sheriff Bearden Goes After Wheaton, 'Torch Man'

Charles Crosnoe filed his "who's who arson list" with State Insurance Commissioner U. A. Gentry at Little Rock Saturday morning, and things began to happen fast.

Prosecuting Attorney Ned Stewart telephoned The Star from Texarkana that he had called a special Hempstead county grand jury to take up the charges in Crosnoe's list at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, May 15, at Washington.

Commissioner Gentry acknowledged receipt of Crosnoe's list and said that he would work through the district prosecutor, being unable under the law to proceed directly from the state office.

Circuit Judge Dexter Bush met Prosecutor Stewart at Texarkana Saturday noon and the announcement of the special grand jury was made at 2 p. m.

List Is Filed

Crosnoe made two copies of his "who's who" list, delivering the original signed copy to Mr. Gentry Saturday morning, and giving the duplicate signed copy to The Star before he left.

Crosnoe was driven to Little Rock by Leonard Ellis, of The Star's staff. Crosnoe completed his dictation to Ellis at 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning—and they left for Little Rock immediately.

No names on the "who's who" list are available for publication until authorities file criminal information against the persons alleged to be involved.

Prosecutor Stewart pointed out in a statement to The Star Saturday that he can not act on "the Crosnoe list alone." The law, the prosecutor said, does not allow conviction of a principal on the unsupported evidence of an accomplice. The prosecutor, therefore, has been using the Crosnoe list as a "lead" to uncover corroborative evidence.

Mr. Stewart spent Friday in Hope checking the local fire department records, and continued his investigation Saturday in other directions—culminating at 2 p. m. Saturday in the call for a special grand jury.

The Negro Wheaton

Sheriff Jim Bearden went to Little Rock Saturday morning, shortly after Crosnoe and Ellis' departure, announcing that he was returning Chris Wheaton, Hempstead negro convict, from the state penitentiary farm to appear in the local investigation.

Sheriff Bearden gave out an interview at Little Rock Saturday afternoon in which he said that Crosnoe had furnished additional information besides that contained in the "who's who" list.

Wheaton, sentenced to six years for the Bradley county gin fire, is alleged by Crosnoe to be the "torch man" in the local arson cases.

Asks Affirmation as Mae's Husband

Her Denial Has Caused Him "Untold Suffering," Declares Wallace

NEW YORK.—Frank Wallace of the vaudeville stage Friday asked Supreme Court Justice Ernest E. L. Hammer to declare him the lawful, wedded husband of Mae West.

In an application submitted to the court by his attorney, Wallace stated that Miss West's recent denial that they were married in 1911 had caused him untold suffering.

The proceeding before Justice Hammer is an application for a "declaratory judgment" to the effect that Frank Wallace and Mae West are still man and wife and that any purported divorce is of no force because it had to be obtained through unfair means.

Wallace says he was informed recently Mae divorced him in 1915, but if she did she failed to notify him, if hasn't seen her for 20 years, but has always thought tenderly of her as "the little woman" and cannot now endure the shock of separation.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Farmer, Too, Subject to Work Hazards

It is generally believed that the occupation of farmer is not very hazardous, and no doubt in the past that was true.

There are certain benefits to health from living outdoors and away from contact with large numbers of people. For example, farmers' daughters have about one-half the amount of tuberculosis affecting young women of the same ages working in industries in the city.

Nevertheless, the coming of motorized power, electricity, and use of medical products on the farm, introduction of insecticides and other poisons for preservation of agricultural products, have begun to affect the health and life of the farmer.

Moreover, application of modern sanitary and hygienic methods has not reached rural populations to the extent that it has affected those living in cities.

Recent investigation shows 20 per cent reduction of infectious diseases in the cities, with only 6 per cent reduction in those living on farms.

Nowadays farmers die from type of accidents associated with the work of farm machinery, such as tractors and motors.

Only two occupations had higher death rates from accidents associated with machines than did farmers. In Nebraska in 1929 accidental deaths on the farm were twice as numerous as those in most manufacturing industries.

Another type of occupational disease which affects the farmer is hookworm, which appears particularly in sections where sanitation is lacking and field workers go barefoot.

Farmers also suffer from irritation of the skin from undue exposure to the heat and light of the sun and, because of their contact with the poisons of various plants, they are beginning to suffer with an extraordinary incidence of hay fever and asthma.

Many other conditions which affect farmers come from the type of parasite associated with animals. Farmers have more tularemia, more sporotrichosis, more tick fever, and more glanders and anthrax than do city workers.

The most recent type of condition to affect farmers particularly is poisoning and insecticides that have been introduced into farming. To protect himself against these hazards, the farmer must wear proper clothing. His shoes must be of the right kind to protect his feet from infection, and he must wear gloves to protect his hands from the chemicals.

Anyone handling any of the new types of chemicals and insecticides should be warned against their poisonous character, know how to prevent undue consumption of the poisons, and also the proper antidotes to use in case of accident.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Adopted Girl's Interest in "Daddy" Points Lesson for Fathers

Little Jennie, five years old, was adopted not long ago by a very fine forty-year-old couple who couldn't face old age without someone to live for.

Jennie had been in the institution since birth. Her mother visited her once every two or three months. But her daddy—where was he?

The little girl adapted herself instantly to her new home, her own little maple and blue room, new clothes and new parents. She was affectionate, sweet, to her foster mother, but her manner toward her new father puzzled them. She could not eat her meals for looking at him. She would prop her chin on her elbow and stare. Followed him about like a little dog and was never off his lap.

Always Awlited His Return

There was one rite she never missed—that was standing at the corner at 5:30 until his car rolled in sight, rain or shine, windy or cold or dusty. She'd hop in the car then, and they'd go the rest of the way together.

One day Jennie said: "Daddy, if I sit on the steps, will you get out of the car tomorrow before you turn the corner?"

Perplexed, he agreed. And so it happened next day he walked around the corner and down the street toward her. She flew to him, but what caught his attention was her expression. Her face radiated light, she seemed to be carried away by some delirious rapture.

He spoke of it to his wife. She said: "Don't ask her what it is. Do it every night if it isn't too inconvenient. I will call up the Superintendent of the Home and ask her if there is a reason."

Her Explanation

The lady from the Home explained it instantly. Each evening Jennie stood at the big gate at five when her mother was returning to their families. She would leave her play group to stare at houses across the street.

Her question regularly was, "When will my daddy come?"

Her new father kept up the practice after that. One day the lady at the little girl flew up to her and her first home stopped in to see Jennie. The words were, "My daddy came. He comes all the time."

Some of you daddies who never see your children, some of you mamas who have decided you'll just take little Johnny or small Mary and get out—well, think it over.

A BOOK A DAY

Queen Marie Tells of War—and Marie—Here's a Royal Account of Rumania's Experience

Her Majesty Marie, Queen of Rumania and the two sections, puts a white and blue lovely head and tells all in "Ordeal," the second volume of her autobiography, just published.

In this book she tells what happened to herself and her country in the war. It is a doleful and melancholy story—more so, apparently, than its author realizes—and it probably will have an enormous appeal to the snob trade.

Marie admits that she was hot for the war, right from the start. English by birth—she was a cousin of King George—she found neutrality hateful and shameful. She wanted to see Rumania get into things, and in August of 1914 she got her way.

Then came the trouble, and confusion, for the lovely queen. The Germans came down like a wolf on the fold, and the Rumanian war was almost pushed into the sea. Russia came to the rescue, collapsed, went Bolshevik, killed its czar and added to the general difficulties. The hos-

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

Preparation Important to Permanent.

A good deal of the success of a permanent depends on the condition your hair is in when you get the wave. Hair that has been cared for properly won't in and month out probably needs no special treatments to get it into healthy shape. On the other hand, if you have neglected hair, oil shampoos and been rather haphazard about brushing, you ought to go in for a little reconditioning before you make an appointment.

Ends that are split, dry and lifeless should be trimmed by a hairdresser who specializes in such cases. If, after the cutting, your ends still feel like straw, remember to tell the operator who gives you permanent that you want them lapped over and completely covered with string. If he doesn't protect them from the heat, they'll break and split all the more.

A scalp that is covered with dandruff or little white flakes of dried skin should be given hot oil shampoos.

C. M. E. Mission Meet in Session

Mississippi Bishop to Speak at 11 o'Clock Sunday Morning

The Women's Missionary Mass Meeting of the Prescott district of the Southwest Arkansas Conference of the C. M. E. church convened in Hope Saturday, to continue until Sunday night.

Mollie C. Jones, of Ardmore, Okla., is district president, and the Rev. J. S. Washington, president of the conference, is in charge of the Hope sessions. The meetings are largely attended by ministers delegates and friends.

The annual addresses of the presiding elder and the district president were received with interest.

At 11 o'clock Sunday morning Bishop J. H. Moore of Holly Springs, Miss., will preach at B. B.'s Memorial C. M. E. church.

The meeting's "watchword" is $600.

If you can, rub warm olive oil on your scalp and the dry ends the night before the day you intend to wash your hair. Leave it on all night. Then, in the morning, using a pure liquid shampoo, wash once, rinse, wash again and rinse three times. Be aware that every trace of the soap is removed. If you use a lemon or vinegar rinse, you must rinse it out with clear water.

back and see the village, lying sleepily might burst into tears again.

In the morning haze, and a line of "I don't really like Gibbs," Katharine began, doubtfully. "Why should I foster this affair? I think it would be the worst thing you could do, to marry him."

"Oh, marry!" Zoe opened her eyes. "Well, isn't that what you're after?"

"He hasn't asked me, but he will," said the younger girl with a note of soft triumph.

"I've simply got to get back," Katharine said suddenly. Of course she loved Zoe as a sister, but this morning there was something peculiarly irritating in Zoe's assumption that she could bend a fullgrown man to her will. Maybe Gibbs wouldn't marry her and maybe he didn't. Katharine didn't know. But Zoe was sure of her powers. Katharine, from her child heights of superiority to feminine wiles, felt annoyed. She was remembering, with lightning clearness, the way Michael had stared at her the other day; so angrily, almost as though he had, for an instant, hated her. Zoe would have known what to do in such a situation.

The little car whirled about, began the down grade. At the lane leading into the riding club Zoe obediently stopped.

"Look, I'll call you up later," she began importantly.

Katharine nodded. Then her heart plunged sickeningly. Something strange happened to her pulse; it was pounding in her throat. She was conscious of a swift surge of rage.

Riding together, heedless of others along the path, came a man and a girl.

Modern Code of Law Undertaken

Chief Justice Hughes Addresses American Law Institute

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Plans for a long-range study of criminal law looking to development of a modern code were approved Thursday by the American Law Institute.

The step was made known shortly after President Roosevelt, in a letter, urged adoption of a modern criminal law and its administration to meet the needs of a modern, complex civilization.

Chief Justice Hughes, in one of his rare public addresses, told the Institute that the supreme court was seeking to revise rules of procedure in federal courts—not only in criminal cases, but in civil and equity cases as well.

Under laws empowering the court to improve procedure new rules would become effective immediately upon being announced by the court although congress has the power to disapprove them.

The Institute adopted a report of its Criminal Justice Committee which urged an "endeavor to create a criminal code more nearly suited to modern economic and social conditions."

"The existing criminal law," the committee said, "constituting as it does a part of the valuable heritage of the common law, must be recognized as one of the fundamental bases upon which the work shall proceed."

"It is to be expected, therefore, that the new code should consist in considerable degree of a restatement clarifying the existing criminal law."

The committee said the study should be made by experts, not only in law, but in criminology, psychiatry, sociology and economics. It estimated the job might require 15 years.

Mother's Day

God thought to give the sweetest thing in His almighty power, and deeply pondering What it should be—one hour In fondest joy and love of heart Outstretching every other, He moved the gates of Heaven apart And gave to earth—A MOTHER.

For her honor, for her memory, for her joy Hope will turn out Sunday to pay tribute. Soft melody will float from the windows and doors of the city's many churches as the choirs sing her praises. Sunday's march to church will be a triumphal and colorful march, red roses will adorn the breasts of those who can count mother as a reality and white one will be worn as a symbol of her memory. Ministers standing in their pulpits seeing perhaps a vision of mother's face, will preach a philosophy that places mother second only to Christ the Jesus, the Son of God. It will be a day for homecomings, a day for reminiscent, serious thought, for

There's no love like a mother's, 'Tis the sun that shineth forth: There's no truth like a mother's, 'Tis the star that points the north: There's no hope like a mother's, 'Tis the April in the clod: There's no trust like a mother's, 'Tis the charity of God.

Naughty Marietta at Saenger Sunday

Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in Fine Musical Roles

Music, romance, stirring drama and spectacle blend in one of the outstanding screen productions of the year in "Naughty Marietta," coming Sunday and Monday only to the Saenger. Miss MacDonald is beautiful to look at, sings divinely, and gives her audience a taste of emotional acting that is surprising. Eddy, famous American baritone, proves that he is real material as a new leading man of the screen, aside from his resonant and artistic baritone voice. The charming music of the great composer, as sung by Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy playing the leading roles in the picture, is heard against a thundering background of drama. The settlement of Louisiana, pioneer struggles, the "Marriage Auction" of St. Louis of the old Creole days, the capture of the Casquette Girls by pirates, their rescue, and other gripping dramatic details are woven into a story that, aside from music, provides an epic recital of the founding of one of America's most romantic cities.

were victims of poison in cocoa. One-year-old Barbara and Katherine, 7, who died April 25, were believed to have been poisoned with orange juice and curd.

It was the deaths of Barbara and Katherine that aroused police suspicion. Autopsies showed they apparently had died of natural causes but the toxicologist's examination disclosed the poison.

Gross told police the poison is imported from Germany, his native land, by the firm that employs him. Assistant District Attorney William P. X. Goughan said he learned that on April 24 Gross told the company he thought there was "something wrong" with the cocoa. By that time three members of his family had died.

The company, Goughan said, sent cocoa from the same batch from which Gross had secured his, for chemical analysis and that the report came back, "acidity positive, but good for human consumption."

NEWS CHURCHES

FIRST METHODIST Fred R. Harrison, Pastor

Mother's Day will be appropriately observed at First Methodist church in the church school and morning preaching hour. Mothers of the primary children are especially invited to the worship service at 9:45 a. m. of the primary department, if which Miss Nannie Purkins, is the superintendent. Other departments and classes will have special programs.

The pastor's Mother's Day sermon subject is, "The Home as a Teacher." Whole families are urged to attend this service and sit together. Mother's Day should be a family day in every parish. At the evening service at 7:30 o'clock the pastor will preach on the subject, "What a Church Member Who Is Breke Can Do for His Church." The text is Acts 2:6, being the words of Peter to the lame man at the gate of the temple: "Silver and gold have I none, but such as I have give I unto thee."

In having 110 members present last Wednesday evening for the first mid-week service of the Easter to Pentecost revival, we needed only 10 more people to reach our goal of 120 persons present. Next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when Chapters 8 to 14 of the Book of Acts will be discussed, we expect to exceed our goal.

OUR LADY OF GOOD HOPE Third Sunday After Easter

6:30 Study of Our Sunday Visitor.
7:30 Benediction with the Most Blessed Sacrament, with prayers ending the novena in honor of Mother.

FIRST BAPTIST Wallace R. Rogers, Pastor

The regular services of the First Baptist church begin at 9:45 with the various departments of the Sunday school assembling in their quarters. The departments are graded in such a way as to provide specialized training for every age, beginning with the nursery and on through the adult group.

The pastor will preach at the morning worship hour which begins at 10:55 and continues until 12 o'clock. There will not be a Mother's Day service. This announcement is made in order that some who hesitate to attend such special programs may feel free to attend without fear of being saddened by so vivid reminders of lost loved ones.

The pastor will go to Present for an afternoon service in the First Methodist church at which time there will be an inter-denominational conference of the young people of this section of Arkansas. Discussion groups will be conducted under the leadership of the Rev. Fred Harrison of Hope, the Rev. J. L. Cannon and the Rev. H. B. Ramsey of Prescott, and the Rev. Wallace R. Rogers of Hope.

This period of discussion of modern problems confronting the youth of our day will be followed by an address by the Rev. Wallace R. Rogers. This meeting is in keeping with kindred services being conducted at other churches in the United States and other countries, and is an attempt to focus seriously the minds of young people upon present-day problems.

The pastor will preach at the night service and will administer the ordinance of baptism. It is the desire of the church that all who await baptism come prepared to receive the ordinance. The night service will adjourn by 9 o'clock.

Senior B. Y. P. U. to Pay Tribute to Home Organizations of First Baptist church urges all members to be present Sunday night.

The Senior B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church has a special treat in store for all who attend the regular weekly meetings to be held Sunday, May 12, at 6:45 p. m., in the left vestibule of the church.

An interesting program on our home life has been planned. Special music will be furnished by the male quartette of this church. A treat is in store for all who attend and visitors are welcome.

Funeral services for "Dolly" Biddle, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Biddle, were held Tuesday at the Water Creek cemetery, with the Rev. Josh Rogers, former Melrose Baptist pastor, officiating. The Biddle boy died Monday after an illness of two months.

Long and Tydings

Long, for the patriotic services which you gave to the country in the course of that war. It is not going to do well, Mr. President, for you today to say to these men who bled and fought and who died that they cannot exchange the little films, nefarious, puny, putrid obligation that the government has given them for the circulating money of the United States, when you have given that right to every banker in the country.

Tydings interrupted to suggest that Long give his own war record for comparison.

"I have covered that to the satisfaction of my people many, many times," Long replied.

"Let me cover it a little bit for the senator," Tydings offered.

"In the senator's own time he can cover it," Long replied.

"You bet I can, and nobody can stop me," Tydings shouted aggressively. "I will not try to stop the senator," Long said.

"You had better not try," Tydings warned. "You may have to make an argument and it won't be vocal."

Long, who had started his speech in the front row of the chamber, gradually had edged back close to Tydings' seat in the rear. Turning away from the angry Marylander, Long said:

"Oh, well, I'm talking about the senator's record on the banks." "I am going to talk about the senator's record on the banks," Long insisted, "then he can talk about my record in the war."

Later Long said he hoped Tydings was not offended, but the latter rejoined that he "always became offended when I hear the president of the United States, no matter whether he is a Democrat or a Republican, belittled."

Hopeless Customer—"Satisfied? Certainly I'm satisfied. I've nothing but praise for you."

Tailor—"Then I suppose it's not much good my sending the bill in again, sir?"—Gutierrez (Madrid).

Roosevelt Holds Out on NRA Lease

Wants 2-Year Extension Forced Through—House Favors, Senate Opposes

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Following a decision by senate Democrats to lengthen the Blue Eagle's lease on life by only 10 months, President Roosevelt Friday reiterated his preference for a two-year extension of NRA. Reserving full comment until the senate has acted, the executive nevertheless let it be known at his press conference that in his opinion the shorter extension would not permit a revision of NRA needed to clarify several uncertain points.

The decision of senate Democrats was reached at a party conference. Leaders said this course was intended to avoid the possibility of an extended fight that might prevent legislation from being enacted before June 16, when the present law expires. They contended, too, that the move would hasten adjournment.

The net result of the president's remarks was an impression that he was counting on the house to approve and insist upon a two-year extension. Senator's who took the same view, however, were warned that such a plan would arouse opposition and possibly extensive delay.

Huge Judgment

Jury decided the loss of the affections of Anne Cannon Reynolds Smith was worth $50,000, and that Cannon should pay $75,000 punitive damages for causing disruption of their home.

Defense lawyers moved that the verdict be set aside as contrary to the weight of evidence and arguments will be heard on their motion Saturday.

The former wife of the late Smith Reynolds, who married Smith, a childhood sweetheart, a few months after her first divorce, obtained a Hot Springs, Ark., divorce almost a year ago to the day.

Smith charged that Cannon formed a discontent on Annie's part, and took her to Hot Springs because he feared they would succeed in taking away from him little Anne Cannon Reynolds, Mrs. Smith's daughter by her first marriage who has been reared by her grandparents.

Cannon made a blanket denial, claiming Anne, herself, insisted on the divorce because he could not live happily with Smith, whose income of around $200 a month was compared with her $600 monthly and her vast family resources.

Anne took the stand in her father's behalf, testifying that she never loved Smith, that she married him to get a home of her own, and that she herself instituted the divorce question without inducement or suggestion from her father or mother.

—AND BEING THE OWNER OF A RACE HORSE, HAS CAUSED ME TO NEGLECT MY SCIENTIFIC STUDIES AND INVENTIONS! —NOW—AH—YOU HAVE A KEEN INSIGHT OF RACE HORSES AND THE TRACK—SO WHY DON'T YOU BUY THAT SPLENDID STEED OF MINE?—EGAD, YOU CAN MAKE A PRETTY PENNY WITH HIM THIS SUMMER—I'VE REDUCED THE PRICE TO $250!

WELL—UMCH—CHAW CHOK—CHOK—ULP—LEMME SEE—I NEVER THOUGHT OF OWNING A RACE HOSS —CHAW—CHOK—CHOFF—CHOFF—TELL YOU WHAFF—CHOFF—CHOFF—CHOK—I'LL GIVE YOU $200! —CHOMP—CHOFF

WE RECALL JAKE TELLING HIM ABOUT NEGLECTING HIS SCIENCE AND INVENTIONS

YES—MOST OF TH' OLD CROWD IS GONE—LIKE SHEETS BOUGHT A RESTRUNT, AND IS MAKIN' A LOT O' JACK. BIG GEORGE WENT INTO TH' INSURANCE GAME AN' IS GETTIN' RICH—DAKIN' WENT INTO BUSINESS AND IS SETTIN' PRETTY. OH, A LOT O' 'EM IS GONE OUT AN' MADE BIG, SINCE YOU QUIT HERE.

M-M-M—IS THAT SO? WELL, WELL, THAT'S—UH—THAT'S FINE!

OH, HURRY HARRY SEEMS SOME WHAT DISAPPOINTED AFTER MAKIN' A SUCCESS O' HISSELF, TO COME BACK AND FIND MOST OF TH' OLD GANG GONE, AND SUCCESSFUL, TOO.

WHY WOULDN'T HE BE? THERE AIN'T ANYBODY TO STRUT ATER, A BUCK PRIVATE IN TH' ARMY CAN BE A SUCCESS AS A PRIVATE, BUT IT'S NO FUN—THERE'S TOO MANY OF 'EM.

GUZ CALLED ME A FOOL! CALM WITH A FANCY NAME! DOWN, OOP, THASSA INSULT! AN' LISSIN' TIME KING OR NO KING, HE CAN'T INSULT ME! INSULTS GOTTA BE DONE RIGHT, Y'SEE!

FOOZY PREVAILS ON OOP TO GIVE EAR TO A BETTER AND MORE DIGNIFIED COURSE

Y' MEAN YOU'LL TELL GUZ THAT HE HAS TO APOLOGIZE, OR WE'LL FIGHT A DUEL?

YES, I'LL SAY YOU DEMAND SATISFACTION! EITHER HE FIGHTS OR GIVES A RETRACTION!

WHAT? YOU SAY I GOTTA APOLOGIZE TO ALLEY OOP, OR FIGHT A DUEL?

YES, THAS RIGHT! APOLOGIZE OR FIGHT!

ME, APOLOGIZE TO THAT HALF-WITTED SON OF A HAIRLESS TREE APE? NEVER!

VERY WELL, KING GUZZLE, YOUR MOST IMPERIAL GRACE—YOU SELECT TH' WEAPONS, SET TH' TIME AN' CHOOSE TH' PLACE!

GO 'WAY, LET US ALONE.

AH, MY FRIENDS, I REALIZE WHAT A GREAT DISAPPOINTMENT YOU'VE HAD, HOWEVER, SINCE YOU'RE HERE, YOU MIGHT, AT LEAST, SEE YOUR ESTATE

TO HECK WITH IT! IF IT'S NOT WORTH INHERITIN', IT'S NOT WORTH LOOKIN' AT.

NONSENSE. YOU COME WITH ME. I HAVE A BOAT WAITING FOR US.

IT'S AN ISLAND, RIGHT NEAR THE OCEAN. FINE FISHING. AND THEY SAY TH' BLACKBEARD THE PIRATE, USED TO CAZEN HIS SHIP THERE.

RATS!

YEP AND TOMORROW RUFE IS GONNA SHIP ALL OF THE ANIMALS BACK WHERE THEY CAME FROM!

INDIA RUBBER MAN

HES ALSO GOING TO GIVE EVERY EMPLOYEE OF THE CIRCUS A GOOD BONUS, BEFORE HE LETS THEM GO!

I THINK HE'S FOOLISH, GIVING AWAY HIS DOUGH THE WAY HE DOES! YES—TERDAY HE WROTE A CHECK FOR TEN THOUSAND BUCKS, INSTEAD OF ONE THOUSAND!

HE DOESN'T CARE! MONEY MEANS NOTHING TO HIM!!

I THINK HE OUGHTA KEEP ME WITH HIM, BEFORE HE GOES BROKE!

HOW COULD HE USE YOU?

HE COULD KEEP ME BUSY, JUST ERASING HIS MISTAKES! AND IN TWO WEEKS I BET I'D BE WORN DOWN TO YOUR SIZE!!
